

Somerset Historic Building Awards

... for excellence in design and conservation

The Somerset Historic Building Awards are given every two years to recognise the very best in design and conservation of:

- ✘ New buildings, whether one or several houses (but not a large estate) in a historic setting;
- ✘ The repair, alteration or extension of an existing building;
- ✘ The conversion of old buildings to beneficial uses.

The project should preferably relate to a historic building or site within a conservation area and must have been completed within the last two years.

Applications for an award can be submitted by:

- ✘ The owner of the building(s);
- ✘ The architect/designer;
- ✘ The contractor.

These prestigious awards are organised by the Somerset Building Preservation Trust and highlight the positive contribution that well-designed and conserved buildings make to their surroundings and to the character of local communities in Somerset.

The Trust was founded in 1988 to help preserve the architectural heritage of the county and inform the public about the importance of preserving and enhancing the man-made environment. Over the years the Trust has restored a number of the county's historic buildings and brought them back into use and is actively working to save other buildings at risk.

More details of the Trust and its work, and how you could become an Associate or Life Member can be found on the website at www.sbpt.info.

William Stansell (1910-1987)

The Trust is extremely grateful to Tauntfield Ltd (the Stansell family company) for sponsoring these awards in memory of William Stansell, the chairman of the Stansell Group whose main love was the conservation and repair of historic buildings. He personally supervised the work carried out on many churches in the West Country including Wells Cathedral, Sherborne Abbey and Bath Abbey. He had incredible expertise in restoration and conservation built up from a lifetime's work on historic buildings.
